OSD TRAINING PROGRAMS
2010–2012

GESTALT INSTITUTE OF CLEVELAND ORGANIZATION & SYSTEMS DEVELOPMENT INTEGRATIVE STUDIES CENTER (GICOSDISC)

OVERVIEW

The Gestalt Institute of Cleveland's Organization and Systems Development Training Program was the first training program in the world to integrate Gestalt theory, systems theory, and organization development theories into a coherent curriculum in the field of organizational change consulting. Our perspective provides individuals with the theory, concepts, methodology, skills, and techniques for effectively intervening at the individual, two-person, group, and organizational and larger levels of systems. It offers a unique Gestalt OSD framework for designing interventions, managing change, and developing professionals in the systems within which we live and work. Current training programs conducted by the Center reflect a 30-year evolution of concept application, teaching strategies, hands-on skill enhancement, and opportunities for both personal and professional growth. Our aspiration is that through increased awareness, knowledge, and skill, individuals can walk into a room containing any number of people anywhere in the world and make a difference with their presence.

TRAINING PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

1. Address the learning needs of individuals and organizations
2. Learn skills to lead, manage, and consult to change efforts
3. Influence people and processes
4. Increase skill and capability to achieve desired outcomes

Teaching methods are varied and include lectures, readings, demonstrations, fieldwork assignments, and small group practice. Feedback on a consistent basis is a critical part of the hands-on and experimental nature of these programs. Faculty ratio averages 1 faculty member for every 4 to 6 participants.

SKILL ENHANCEMENT

- Discriminate among observations, interpretations, and judgments
- Develop greater awareness of one's own internal and external experience
- Work with and recognize resistance in the client and systems with a respectful attitude
- Observe and attend to processes at the intrapersonal, interpersonal, group, and organizational levels
- Identify conflicts and choices related to interventions required at each level of system

FOUR-FOLD FOCUS

The programs have at their heart a four-fold focus:

1. The Gestalt OSD framework
2. Designing interventions
3. Developing individuals, groups, and organizations
4. Developing systems

ADMISSIONS PROCESS

Admittance to the training programs generally requires attending a prerequisite Introduction to Gestalt workshop before or during the program, a written application, and a personal interview either in person or by telephone. The training programs run for periods spanning one to three years, entailing five to nine modules. There is a nonrefundable application fee of $500. All fees must be paid in US funds drawn on a US bank in the form of a check, money order, or wire transfer; make checks payable to the Gestalt Institute of Cleveland Organization & Systems Development Integrative Studies Center. Applicants are required to pay all bank fees in advance. Due to the nature of the programs' design and operation, tuition will not be refunded for early withdrawal. A penalty fee may be assessed for a participant's withdrawal following his or her acknowledgement of acceptance into the program. Requests for special payment arrangements may be addressed to the OSD Center President in conjunction with the GIC OSD ISC Payments Officer.

Upon completion of the program and full payment of fees, participants will receive a Gestalt Approach to Organization and Systems Development Program Certificate relevant to the program taken.

Early application is strongly advised.

Requests for special payment arrangements may be addressed to the OSD Center President in conjunction with the GIC OSD ISC Payments Officer. Refunds are not given for early withdrawal from the training program due to the nature of its design and operation.

Note: The Gestalt Center for Organization & Systems Development does not offer CEUs at this time.

TUITION AND FEES

Tuition and fees vary from program to program and are subject to change. Program tuition and fees do not include travel, lodging, or meals. See the Web site at www.gestaltosd.org for the most up-to-date information. Some limited scholarship funds are available.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

The programs are designed for individuals with demonstrated competence in their field, and who have a commitment to developing effective organizations, work teams, communities, and governing bodies and/or large-scale organizational transformation.

The programs will benefit anyone wanting to enhance their ability to influence people and systems through increased competence and effectiveness in designing, implementing, and executing interventions to achieve desired outcomes.

Many who have attended the programs serve as leaders, physicians, educators, external or internal consultants, managers, administrators, and lawyers. The specific role of the applicant, however, is less important than his or her active involvement in ongoing system change and development work.
