OVERVIEW

The Gestalt Center for Organization & Systems Development Training Program was the first training program in the world to integrate Gestalt theory, systems theory, and organization development theories into a coherent curriculum in the field of organizational change consulting. Our perspective provides individuals with the theory, concepts, methodology, skills, and techniques for effectively intervening at the individual, two-person, group, and organizational and larger levels of systems. It offers a unique Gestalt OSD framework for designing interventions, managing change, and developing professionals in the systems within which we live and work. Current training programs conducted by the Center reflect an over 30-year evolution of concept application, teaching strategies, hands-on skill enhancement, and opportunities for both personal and professional growth. Our aspiration is that through increased awareness, knowledge, and skill, individuals can walk into a room containing any number of people anywhere in the world and make a difference with their presence.

OSD WEEKEND PROGRAM OVERVIEW

This new program format provides an opportunity for individuals interested in the Gestalt Center's world-class OSD training to undertake the experience in a weekend format, requiring minimum time away from work. The program includes 9 weekends, scheduled once a month and usually spanning two calendar years. Each weekend will include a Friday evening session, a full day on Saturday, and a Sunday morning session. One of the weekends will run from Thursday through Sunday.

The program provides individuals with the theory, concept, methodology, skills, and techniques for effectively intervening at the individual, two-person, group, and organizational levels of system. It offers individuals an opportunity to learn how to use the Gestalt perspective to develop themselves professionally, design interventions, and lead and manage change in the systems within which they live and work.

Gestalt OSD Center faculty bring a wealth of experience from their work in government, business, education, and human service organizations at various levels of system. They have used Gestalt theory, concepts, and methodology in their roles as leaders, managers, administrators, consultants, and trainers throughout the world.

TRAINING PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

1. Address the learning needs of individuals and organizations
2. Learn skills to lead, manage, and consult to change efforts
3. Influence people and processes
4. Increase skill and capability to achieve desired outcomes

Teaching methods are varied and include lectures, readings, demonstrations, fieldwork assignments, small group practice, and step-by-step skill-building experiences. Feedback on a consistent basis is a critical part of the hands-on and experimental nature of these programs. Faculty ratio averages 1 faculty member for every 4 to 6 participants.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

The program is designed for individuals with a master's or doctoral degree who have demonstrated competence in their field, and who have a commitment to developing effective organizations, work teams, communities, and governing bodies, and/or to large-scale organizational transformation. The program will enhance individuals' ability to influence people and systems through increased competence and effectiveness in designing, implementing, and following through on interventions to achieve desired outcomes.

SKILL ENHANCEMENT

- Discriminate among observations, interpretations, and judgments
- Develop greater awareness of one's own internal and external experience
- Recognize resistance in the client and systems and adopt a respectful attitude in working through it
- Observe and attend to processes at the intrapersonal, interpersonal, group, and organizational levels
- Identify conflicts and choices related to interventions required at each level of system

FOUR-FOLD FOCUS

The program has at its heart a four-fold focus:

1. The Gestalt OSD framework
2. Designing interventions
3. Developing individuals, groups, and organizations
4. Developing systems

ADMISSION PROCESS

Admittance to the training programs generally requires attending a prerequisite Introduction to Gestalt workshop. Admission to the program involves both written application and an in-person interview. Early application is encouraged.

APPLICATION FEE

The nonrefundable application fee must accompany the applicant's completed application form. 75% of the tuition fee is due upon acceptance into the program. Full payment of the tuition is due by the program's start date. All fees are subject to yearly review. Limited scholarships are available. Requests for special payment arrangements may be addressed to the OSD Center President in conjunction with the GIC OSD ISC Payments Officer. Refunds are not given for early withdrawal from the training program due to the nature of its design and operation. A penalty fee may be assessed for a participant's withdrawal following his or her acknowledgement of acceptance into the program.

CONTINUING EDUCATION UNITS

The Gestalt Center for Organization & Systems Development does not offer CEUs at this time.
